TRUMAN FORECASTS GREAT DEFICIT

Chambers Showdown Delayed

Hiss Fails To Meet Accuser

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—The dramatic showdown between Alger Hiss, former state department official, and the man who accused him of having been a Communist agent was postponed today.

The house UnAmerican activities committee announced that Hiss will testify in closed session this afternoon, but that his accuser, Whittaker Chambers, will not be present.

Originally, Hiss and Chambers were scheduled to confront each other at a secret session of the committee. Hiss has charged that Chambers' story concerning him was a lie.

Committee Chairman Thomas (R) N. J., declared that a showdown between Hiss and Chambers still is planned, but gave no reason for cancellation of Chambers' scheduled appearance today.

Hiss, now head of the Carnegie Foundation for World Peace, declared under oath that he did not even know Chambers, who, also in sworn testimony, asserted that he and Hiss were

Yugoslavs Fear Reds Mass Troops

By KINGSBURY SMITH

ROME, Aug. 16—Rumors are circulating in the uneasy Yugoslav capital of Belgrade about large-scale Soviet troop movements in Romania next door.

There is no confirmation of these rumors. Western diplomats at the Danube navigation conference treat them with reserve, but are closely watching the situation for this reason:

They are convinced that if Russia resorts to military action in an attempt to overthrow Marshal Tito then troops will be sent through Romania instead of Hungary or Bulgaria.

Romania's woman foreign minister Ana Pauker made a quick flying trip back to Bucharest from Belgrade last week just about the time Western diplomats first heard the rumors of Russian troop movements.

She remained 24 hours and then returned to Belgrade for the Danube parley which is drawing to a close.

Some western diplomats in Belgrade foresee the possibility that Romania might be incorporated into the Soviet union to give Russia a common frontier with defiant Yugoslavia.

Three Drown As Picnickers Ferry Capsizes

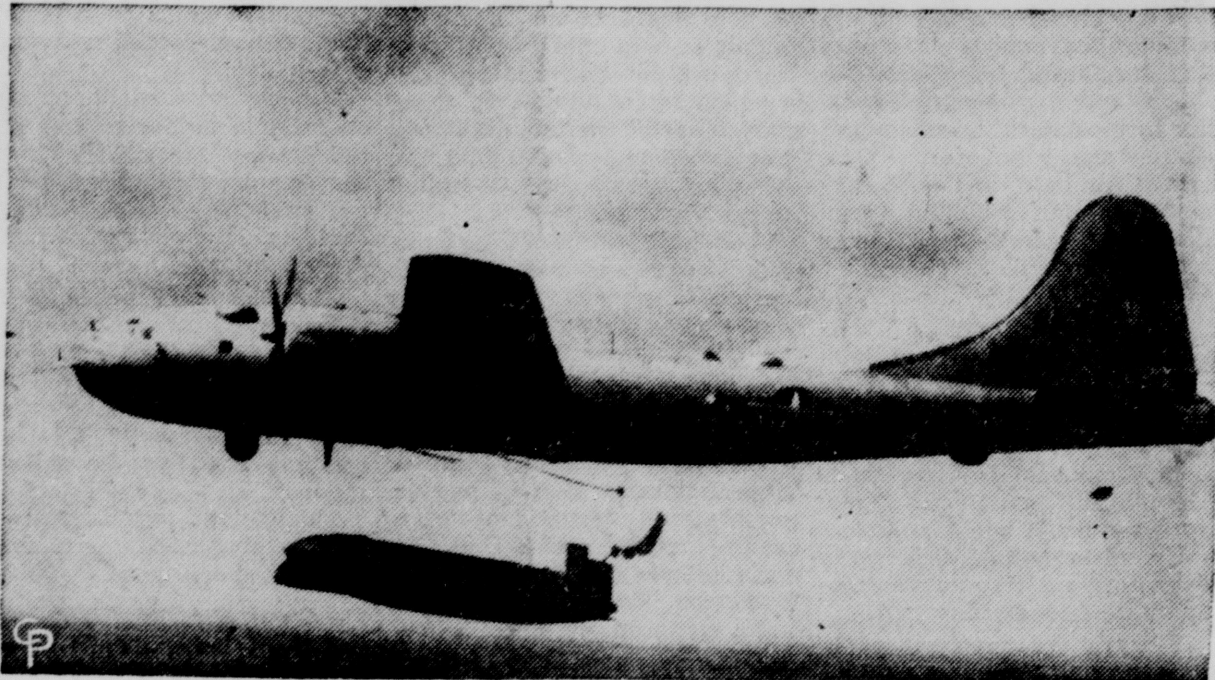

BOWLING GREEN, O., Aug. 16—Three persons were drowned and two were taken to Toledo hospitals in critical condition last night when a ferryboat loaded with picnickers overturned in the Maumee river 12 miles south of Perrysburg.

Five-year-old James Petenta; Adeline Van Klinger, 47, and her nephew, Cornelius, 9, all of Toledo, were drowned when the boat capsized in midstream on the return from an island.

The craft carried 20 to 30 picnickers from the Textile Leather Corp. of Toledo.

Florine Heitz was taken to Mercy hospital in Toledo and Peter Van Klinger, husband of the dead woman, was taken to Toledo St. Vincent's hospital. They were nearly drowned and were suffering from shock.

The Petenta boy and Mrs. Van Klinger were trapped on deck when the boat, operated by Thulow Bealecki, 16, of Swanton, flipped over. The rest were thrown clear and were found nearby.

LARGEST, MOST COMPLETELY-EQUIPPED airborne lifeboat ever made is released from a B-29 over Long Island sound in Air Force's "Operation Splash." A 100-foot parachute lowers the 30-foot, two-ton metal boat gently. Fins stabilize it while in the air, and a streamlined guard protects the rudder and propeller. The craft is designed to rescue combat crews forced down at sea.

Litchfield Says Allies Would Be "Damned Fools" To Buy Lifting Of Berlin Blockade By Reds

BERLIN, Aug. 16—A U. S. military government official today predicted Gen. Lucius D. Clay's resignation if Allied envoys in Moscow junk the West German government plan. Dr. Edward H. Litchfield told International News Service that in such an event "Gen. Clay and most of his top advisers will quit."

Litchfield, director of the Civil Administration division, said in an interview:

"We would be damned fools to buy a Russian lifting of the Berlin blockade and a four-power conference on Germany in exchange for shelving the West German government plan."

An informant close to U. S. Military Governor Gen. Clay had charged last Saturday that adverse criticism of the general's policy in some sections of the American press is hampering Western negotiations in Moscow.

DR. LITCHFIELD, former university of Michigan professor, is chief American representative on the committee implementing the political fusion of the three Western zones in accordance with the London six-power conference recommendations.

Litchfield said: "It is the old Soviet sucker bait—demanding big concessions for giving up something to which they have no legal right in the first place."

"All our experience in the foreign ministers' council meetings and at international conferences since the end of the war shows that the Soviets are impressed by only one thing—toughness.

"The West German state is one of the few weapons we have of which they are afraid. Why give it up?"

Litchfield said that a sacrifice of the West German state plan "would be the beginning of a general Munich-style capitulation."

HE SAID Clay "probably would be succeeded by a civilian who would inherit a disorganized set-up and be subjected to counsels of weakness," adding:

"It would not be long before we would get out of Berlin and soon we would have to get out of the occupation zone."

Litchfield was asked about the Soviet-led Rawasaw conference proposal of a four-power conference to draft a peace treaty with Germany to be followed by evacuation of occupation armies within a year. He said:

"Getting the Red army out of Europe might have been a good idea if it could have been managed six months after the end of the war."

"It would not make any difference now because a fifth column would take over."

Diplomatic circles believe that the coming week may be decisive in the negotiations. They feel that either a big four conference on Germany will be scheduled, or that it will be decided there is too little basis for agreement to warrant holding one.

Both sides are still reported holding firm on fundamental issues. The Russians are said to be demanding a halt to preparations for a Western German state and exclusive control over Berlin currency. The West is reportedly demanding an end to the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

Ohio Boy Wins Akron Derby

AKRON, O., Aug. 16—Little Donald Francis Strub carried home to Warren, O., today a national championship trophy and a four-year scholarship to any college in the United States—first prizes in the 1948 all-American Soapbox Derby.

The 13-year-old Strub nosed out Gary Dwain Turley of Charleston, W. Va., by two feet. William Brown of San Francisco came in third in the 975.4-foot grind.

A crowd of 35,000 cheered the Warren lad to victory. Turley earned a new Chevrolet sedan and a trophy for his second-place finish. Brown received a portable motion picture projector and the third-place trophy.

Steers Bring Record High At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16—A lot of 25 prime steers sold for an all-time record high of $41.60 a hundredweight on the Cleveland livestock market today.

The steers, averaging 1,292 pounds each, came from the farm of William Kuhlman of Woodville, O., an Ohio state winner last fall.

The price is believed to be the highest ever paid for steers on the open market in the United States. The steers were of "the best quality."

Heavy Flow Of Fines Adds To City Income

In a comparative report released Monday by Circleville Auditor Lillian M. Young, the Mayor's court proved to be a busy crossroad for handling traffic violation and misdemeanors.

In the first seven months of 1948, Mayor Thurman I. Miller has more than doubled the amount of fines and costs collected than in all of last year.

Putsch In Berlin Seen As Red Aim

German Paper Tells Of Plot

BERLIN, Aug. 16—The Berlin newspaper Montags Echo said today that Soviet leaders are planning a "putsch" to install a Communist-dominated government in Berlin and eventually in all of Germany.

The newspaper, organ of the Conservative Liberal Democratic party, said that Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, hero of Stalingrad, had been named to replace Marshal Vassili Sokolovsky as Soviet commander in Germany in order to carry out the new policy.

The policy, it said, involves the formation of "action committees" on the familiar Soviet lines to seize power.

The newspaper asserted that these action committees are now being formed among members of the Communist-led Socialist Unity party.

IF THE SED is defeated in a legal election, the Russians presumably will declare the results fraudulent and attempt to install the SED in power by force.

Montags Echo said that after capturing political control of Berlin—thus making the position of the Allies virtually untenable—the Russians would back the SED in a drive across the Elbe into all Western Germany—with arms if necessary.

Rumors of an impending SED-Russian "putsch" have been prevalent for some time. Last May they became so strong that Col. Frank Howley, U. S. commandant in Berlin, declared that American troops would be called in to thwart any such movement.

THE MONTAGS Echo report drew some credence because of SED demands last week for a complete Berlin election this fall.

This agitation prompted considerable surprise because in the 1946 election the party polled only 18 per cent of the total city ballot.

Observers are agreed now that in any new election the party would poll less than 10 per cent of the total vote.

The paper said Rokossovsky has been ordered to eliminate all but the SED from political activity in the Soviet zone and to place trained Communists in all key German administrative positions.

Montags Echo's report coincided with new manifest Russian efforts to split Berlin to the point of establishing a Communist-dominated city government even before a "putsch."

The Russians already have sponsored a police force which rejects the authority of the city assembly, and have divided the former German capital on the issue of currency.

Establishment of their own city government would be the last step in splitting the Eastern and Western sectors of the former German capital.

A HINT THAT such action may be in the offing was contained in an editorial in the Berlin Communist newspaper, Neues Deutschland, demanding that present officials of the city government resign. The editorial blamed the city government, which is anti-Communist, for most of the East-West difficulties in Berlin.

War Feared

MANILA, Aug. 16—The internal peace of the Philippines again seems to be hanging by a thread. There was talk today of the possibility of a resumption of civil war because of the failure of all but a handful of the rebel Hukbalahaps to register for presidential pardon.

The period for such registrations expired last midnight. The leftist Huk guerillas and their associated National Peasant Union members had been given 50 days in which to bring themselves under the terms of President Elpidio Quirino's amnesty.

ALL BANDAGED UP again, 6-year-old Mary Grace Timmons tries hard not to cry as she lies in a hospital at Troy, N. Y., down with a bone break for 16th time in her life.

1260 Superforts Being Prepared For Action

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—The Air Force disclosed today that it is building up its strategic striking power by preparing 1,260 B-29 "Superforts" for action.

Activation of this number of giant bombers is a step toward the congressionally authorized 70-group air force to be completed in 1951.

An extremely heavy blow against an enemy could be delivered by a force of 1,260 B-29s—standard heavy bombers used against Japan in World War II.

The USAF now has 13 B-29 active groups consisting of about 780 planes. Each group contains 30 planes with 30 in reserve. Ninety planes in three groups are now in Europe on training missions.

The additional 480 planes are to be withdrawn from reserve.

The B-29 remains the USAF's standard heavy bomber, although it will be replaced as fast as possible by its successor, the B-50, a similar but greatly improved plane.

In addition, development work is being continued on the immense, six-engined B-36, on the "Flying Wing" bomber, and on a number of jet-powered medium and light bombers.

The previously announced range of the Superfort with a five-ton bomb load was 4,600 miles, announced several months ago by Air Secretary Symington.

The new record was set over the weekend by a B-29 which flew from MacDill Field, Fla., to the west coast and return. The plane dropped an assimilated bomb load off the Pacific coast.

On its return flight, the bomber flew at an altitude of 25,000 feet and landed at MacDill field with 317 gallons of gasoline left in its tanks.

The plane, piloted by Maj. Ralph R. Taylor of Walker Field, Roswell, N. M., completed the flight in 23 hours and 30 minutes.

The strategic air command, in announcing the flight, credited development of a new cruise control procedure with aiding in establishment of the new record.

Comeback Of Babe Amazing To Physicians

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—Physicians at Memorial hospital were amazed today by Babe Ruth's remarkable comeback, although the former home run king still is on the critical list.

Four encouraging developments in the patient's condition were announced in two bulletins last night.

They were topped by the revelation that Mr. Baseball, who has been waging a grim battle for life for six days, sat up out of bed for 20 minutes.

Other cheering announcements were that the Babe's temperature was lower, he is taking a little more nourishment, and spent a comfortable day.

Only his family and two intimates were at the hospital when the Babe got out of bed.

Flees To Yanks

FRANKFURT, Aug. 16—Gen. Cenek Kudlacek, another high Czechoslovak officer, arrived today in the U. S. occupation zone of Germany after a flight from his Communist-dominated homeland. Kudlacek followed into exile Gen. Antonin Hasal, former military adviser to President Benes, who has resigned, and hundreds of other Czech officials and private citizens.

G.O.P. Says Facts Are Distorted

New Campaign Issue Created

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—President Truman created a new campaign issue today by predicting a 1.5 billion dollar government deficit for this fiscal year.

He blamed this on the Republican-controlled congress. GOP leaders immediately accepted the challenge by accusing the President of distorting budget figures for political purposes. They said there actually would be a surplus.

The President predicted that government expenditures in the 1949 fiscal year, which began July 1, would total 42 billion, 203 million dollars and revenue 40 billion, 658 million. This would leave a deficit of one billion, 545 million.

HE DECLARED that the GOP tax reduction passed over his veto last spring was chiefly responsible for "this sharp reversal" in the fiscal situation.

In the 1948 fiscal year, which ended last June 30, the government rang up an all-time high surplus of eight billion, 420 million dollars.

The expenditure forecast for the 1949 year is six billion, 137 million greater than the 36 billion and 66 million which the government actually spent in the 1948 year. This results mainly from expanded foreign aid and national defense programs.

The revenue estimate is three billion, 823 million less than the amount the government collected in 1948. This is due to the tax cut.

The President conceded that the government actually will have "a 'paper' surplus" of one billion, 545 million.

U.S. Polishes Up Denial Of Red Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—The state department today polished up its note to the Russian government denying all Soviet charges in the "school teacher" and Dreher cases.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith was expected to deliver the note to the Kremlin within 48 hours.

The note may well contain counter-charges, including allegations that Soviet officials in Washington and New York have far overstepped their diplomatic authority in seeking custody of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina and Mikhail Samarin.

This possibility was heightened by Moscow efforts to produce a counter spy thriller involving a former U. S. assistant naval attaché of the American embassy in Moscow.

The state department took prompt cognizance of a Moscow radio broadcast alleging that Lieut. Tombert Dreher had been caught red-handed last April obtaining top secret information from a Soviet customs official.

This, the department said in effect, was just so much eye-wash concocted to distract attention from the bungling of Russian diplomats here in the school teacher and spy ring cases.

British Solon Renews Blast At U.S. Laws

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16—Thomas O'Brien, representative of Nottingham, England, in the British parliament, continued his blast at government control today at the opening sessions of the AFL-Theatrical Stage Employees Union.

O'Brien declared yesterday in Cleveland that he feared "state entertainment" and called for less government control of show business both in this country and England, with less "slamming each other across the Atlantic."

G.O.P. Says Facts Are Distorted

New Campaign Issue Created

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—President Truman created a new campaign issue today by predicting a 1.5 billion dollar government deficit for this fiscal year.

He blamed this on the Republican-controlled congress. GOP leaders immediately accepted the challenge by accusing the President of distorting budget figures for political purposes. They said there actually would be a surplus.

The President predicted that government expenditures in the 1949 fiscal year, which began July 1, would total 42 billion, 203 million dollars and revenue 40 billion, 658 million. This would leave a deficit of one billion, 545 million.

HE DECLARED that the GOP tax reduction passed over his veto last spring was chiefly responsible for "this sharp reversal" in the fiscal situation.

In the 1948 fiscal year, which ended last June 30, the government ran up an all-time high surplus of eight billion, 420 million dollars.

The expenditure forecast for the 1949 year is six billion, 137 million greater than the 36 billion and 66 million which the government actually spent in the 1948 year. This results mainly from expanded foreign aid and national defense programs.

The revenue estimate is three billion, 823 million less than the amount the government collected in 1948. This is due to the tax cut.

The President conceded that the government actually will have "a paper surplus" of one

U.S. Polishes Up Denial Of Red Charges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—The state department today polished up its note to the Russian government denying all Soviet charges in the "school teacher" and Dreher cases.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith was expected to deliver the note to the Kremlin within 48 hours.

The note may well contain counter-charges, including allegations that Soviet officials in Washington and New York have far overstepped their diplomatic authority in seeking custody of Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina and Mikhail Samarin.

This possibility was heightened by Moscow efforts to produce a counter spy thriller involving a former U. S. assistant naval attaché of the American embassy in Moscow.

The state department took prompt cognizance of a Moscow radio broadcast alleging that Lieut. Tombert Dreher had been caught red-handed last April obtaining top secret information from a Soviet customs official.

This, the department said in effect, was just so much eye-wash concocted to distract attention from the bungling of Russian diplomats here in the school teacher and spy ring cases.

British Solon Renews Blast At U.S. Laws

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16—Thomas O'Brien, representative of Nottingham, England, in the British parliament, continued his blast at government control today at the opening sessions of the AFL-Theatrical Stage Employees Union.

O'Brien declared yesterday in Cleveland that he feared "state entertainment" and called for less government control of show business both in this country and England, with less "slamming each other across the Atlantic."

Flees To Yanks

FRANKFURT, Aug. 16—Gen. Cenek Kudlacek, another high Czechoslovak officer, arrived today in the U. S. occupation zone of Germany after a flight from his Communist-dominated homeland. Kudlacek followed into exile Gen. Antonin Hasal, former military adviser to President Beneš, who has resigned, and hundreds of other Czech officials and private citizens.

HE REFERRED to the action, engineered by Republican leaders at the regular session of congress, of earmarking three billion dollars of the 1948 year surplus to help defray costs of the European recovery program in the 1949 year.

Republican leaders who replied to the President were house speaker Martin, Mass., and Sens. Bridges, N. H., chairman of the senate appropriations committee, and Millikin, Colo., chairman of the senate finance committee.

Martin, who is vacationing at Sagamore in his home state, commented that "figures can be made to show anything you want."

He said that "after next January we will have a Republican administration and then we will give the country a substantial surplus."

Bridges said the budget review was "just another campaign speech." He asserted that the President "has scrambled his figures to conceal a surplus that will not be less than six billion dollars."

Mr. Truman contended that "our national and international responsibilities make impossible any sharp reduction in government expenditures" in the 1950 fiscal year. He added:

"IT IS PLAIN, therefore, that the ill-timed tax reduction of last Spring has left the government facing a period of deficit financing."

"To cut government revenues in the face of expanding national and international requirements, and at a time of increasing inflationary pressures, was obviously a grave error."

He said "programs already authorized for the national military establishment, will require a higher level of expenditures for the fiscal year 1950," adding:

"Expenditures for the European recovery program will reach their peak in the same year."

The shift back to deficit financing, Mr. Truman declared, "eliminates one of the principal forces that have been restraining further inflation."

HE CONCEDED, however, that his latest estimates might be wrong. He said:

"It is possible that further inflationary developments may produce higher revenues than those now estimated—revenues might even rise above expenditures."

"Even if this should prove true, however, it is hardly sound fiscal policy to rely on inflation as a method of balancing the budget."

The present situation, he said, indicates that "no further reduction in the total debt will be possible in 1949." He recalled that the debt was reduced six billion dollars in the 1948 year.

Quick Thought Limits Blaze

Quick-thinking neighbors limited damage by fire to a one-story Commercial Point home to an estimated $400 Sunday morning.

Neighbors of Berman Bullock Sunday morning noticed smoke pouring from the Bullock home, and, finding Bullock and his family absent from the dwelling, broke into the house to form a "bucket brigade."

Circleville firemen, who arrived on the scene shortly after, said the fire was nearly under control when they arrived.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise said the fire had originated in a clothes press and had damaged stored clothing, the flooring and roof and had broken some windows.

Two Wedlocks On Court Skids

A three-year-old marriage was one of two wedlocks to hit the skids in divorce decrees handed down by Judge William D. Radcliff in Pickaway County common pleas court.

Dissolution of her marriage to Paul R. Thompson was granted Betty L. Thompson on grounds of gross neglect of duty. The couple was married Aug. 15, 1945, in Circleville and they have two children.

She was given custody of the children and Thompson was ordered to pay $10 a week toward support of the offspring.

The second divorce was granted to William H. Miller from Margaret E. Miller on grounds of gross neglect of duty. Their marriage began Jan. 26, 1945, in Ashville. They have no children.

County Saddle Horses Victors

Princess Kirby, five-gaited mare of Barbara Pontius, of near Circleville, won top honors in the "open" five gaited class at the Zanesville horse show Sunday.

The mare, mounted by its owner, also placed high in the five-gaited stake, receiving a fourth place ribbon.

Only other Pickaway county horse entered in competition was Jim Yost's Plucky Wilson, which won fourth place in the "walking class."

Plucky Wilson was mounted by Roger Downing, of Circleville.

Court Paving To Start Soon

Work on the $42,906 project of repaving Circleville's Court street is expected to get underway Wednesday or Thursday, officials of the Decker Construction Co., of Columbus said.

The job, which was to begin last week, was postponed because of the large number of orders for the concrete-asphalt material used for paving.

Repaving will cover 1.3 miles of Court street from Pleasant street to the south corporation limits.

Thieves Get Auto By Good Timing

A Circleville man was deprived of the use of his auto Saturday night when thieves executed a "perfect timing" routine on him.

Shirley Stant, 317 South Pickaway street, reported the theft of his 1936 Chevrolet from in front of his house a little after 10 p. m. Saturday.

Stant told police he had parked the auto in front of his house for a few minutes while he ran in after his lunch box, and that when he returned the car was gone.

The auto was found Sunday afternoon, abandoned, near Cedar Hill with a broken timing gear.

Police said Monday they believed two men were involved in the theft, since neighbors in the vicinity reported they had seen a pair loitering there earlier.

The car was towed back to Circleville by a police cruiser.

Contempt Laid To Husband Trio

Three men have been ordered to appear Aug. 20, in Pickaway County common pleas court for contempt of court action filed by their wives resulting of divorce proceedings.

The husbands are Guy Goldsberry, Lewis A. McCollister and William H. Robison.

In a court order of Sept. 7, 1937, Goldsberry was ordered to pay Marvene Goldsberry $3.50 per week as support. She alleges he has failed to carry out the court order.

McCollister is accused of failing to comply with a court ruling of Dec. 11, 1945, at which time he was directed to pay Helen L. McCollister the sum of $12 per week.

The court also has ordered Robison to appear for allegedly failing to pay $25 per week as temporary alimony. Court records show payments were to begin in August, 1945.

Chambers Showdown Delayed

Chambers, self-confessed spy courier, has accused Hiss of having been a member of the "top-level" of "an underground organization of the U. S. Communist party" in the mid-30's. Hiss swore under oath that he never belonged to the Communist party.

Chambers testified that he went to Hiss and pleaded with him to break away with the Communists and that Hiss cried, but would not do so. Hiss told the committee that "so far as I am aware I have never laid eyes on him."

Chambers is a senior editor of Time magazine. Hiss helped arrange many international conferences, including the U. N. organizational meeting at San Francisco. He attended the Yalta conference.

Hiss swore that Chambers' accusations "are complete fabrications." Committee members stated that Chambers repeated and amplified them at an executive session held in New York 48 hours after Hiss testified.

The committee may not hold any more open hearings until the final week in August or early in September, although there is a possibility that a final public session may be held tomorrow.

G.O.P. Says Facts Are Distorted

HE REFERRED to the action, engineered by Republican leaders at the regular session of congress, of earmarking three billion dollars of the 1948 year surplus to help defray costs of the European recovery program in the 1949 year.

Republican leaders who replied to the President were house speaker Martin, Mass., and Sens. Bridges, N. H., chairman of the senate appropriations committee, and Millikin, Colo., chairman of the senate finance committee.

Martin, who is vacationing at Sagamore in his home state, commented that "figures can be made to show anything you want."

He said that "after next January we will have a Republican administration and then we will give the country a substantial surplus."

Bridges said the budget review was "just another campaign speech." He asserted that the President "has scrambled his figures to conceal a surplus that will not be less than six billion dollars."

Mr. Truman contended that "our national and international responsibilities make impossible any sharp reduction in government expenditures" in the 1950 fiscal year. He added:

"IT IS PLAIN, therefore, that the ill-timed tax reduction of last Spring has left the government facing a period of deficit financing."

"To cut government revenues in the face of expanding national and international requirements, and at a time of increasing inflationary pressures, was obviously a grave error."

He said "programs already authorized for the national military establishment, will require a higher level of expenditures for the fiscal year 1950," adding:

"Expenditures for the European recovery program will reach their peak in the same year."

The shift back to deficit financing, Mr. Truman declared, "eliminates one of the principal forces that have been restraining further inflation."

HE CONCEDED, however, that his latest estimates might be wrong. He said:

"It is possible that further inflationary developments may produce higher revenues than those now estimated—revenues might even rise above expenditures."

"Even if this should prove true, however, it is hardly sound fiscal policy to rely on inflation as a method of balancing the budget."

The present situation, he said, indicates that "no further reduction in the total debt will be possible in 1949." He recalled that the debt was reduced six billion dollars in the 1948 year.

State Paints County Bridges

Seven Pickaway County bridges this Summer shared in the State highway department's $40,291 project of painting the structures with an aluminum colored rust resisting chromate.

According to Division Engineer Robert L. Werner the bridges were on Route 762 over the Scioto River and one across Darby Creek on the same route. Contractor for these jobs was the Economy Painters of Cincinnati.

The others were on Route 22 over Deer Creek, across Laurel Run, over Salt Creek, the Scioto River and Walnut Creek. This work was contracted by the Andrews Painting Co., of Youngstown.

In all, some 40 bridges were renovated in Division No. 6, comprising Pickaway, Delaware, Fayette, Franklin, Madison, Marion, Morrow and Union Counties, Werner declared.

Thieves Get Auto By Good Timing

A Circleville man was deprived of the use of his auto Saturday night when thieves executed a "perfect timing" routine on him.

Shirley Stant, 317 South Pickaway street, reported the theft of his 1936 Chevrolet from in front of his house a little after 10 p. m. Saturday.

Stant told police he had parked the auto in front of his house for a few minutes while he ran in, after his lunch box, and that when he returned the car was gone.

The auto was found Sunday afternoon, abandoned, near Cedar Hill with a broken timing gear.

Police said Monday they believed two men were involved in the theft, since neighbors in the vicinity reported they had seen a pair loitering there earlier.

The car was towed back to Circleville by a police cruiser.

Contempt Laid To Husband Trio

Three men have been ordered to appear Aug. 20, in Pickaway County common pleas court for contempt of court action filed by their wives resulting of divorce proceedings.

The husbands are Guy Goldsberry, Lewis A. McCollister and William H. Robison.

In a court order of Sept. 7, 1937, Goldsberry was ordered to pay Marvne Goldsberry $3.50 per week as support. She alleges he has failed to carry out the court order.

McCollister is accused of failing to comply with a court ruling of Dec. 11, 1945, at which time he was directed to pay Helen L. McCollister the sum of $12 per week.

The court also has ordered Robison to appear for allegedly failing to pay $25 per week as temporary alimony. Court records show payments were to begin in August, 1945.

Gains Alimony

Alimony, support and expenses have been allowed Esther O. Smith in her suit for separation from Ashley E. Smith now on file in Pickaway County common pleas court. Judge William D. Radcliff granted her $15 per week as temporary alimony during the continuance of her action, $7.50 per week as support of the couple's minor child and $75 for her legal expenses.

Belgrade to Rome late yesterday and it was like coming from darkness into the light.

The faces, clothes and gay spirit of the Italian people are in sharp contrast to the drab, nervous and depressed populace of the Yugoslavs in Belgrade.

YUGOSLAV government circles are increasingly concerned over what Russia intends to do to settle accounts with Tito, who has told the Moscow-led Cominform he will carry out Communist plans in his own land without dictation from the Soviet bloc.

This correspondent can reveal on reliable authority that Ales Bebler, the Yugoslav delegate at the Danube parley, went so far as to ask Sir Charles Peake, the British delegate, what he thought Russia might do.

A widespread belief is that Tito will fight furiously against either internal Russian fifth columns or actual Soviet military intervention.

On good authority it is learned that Tito has the following men:

Thirty-eight regular army divisions of 300,000 men; special political shock troop divisions of the Yalta conference.

Here Are Stories On Truman, Dewey Presidency Race

President Shows Bounce Back Ability

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—They counted on Harry Truman a week before the Democratic convention met in Philadelphia. Democratic insurgents backing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the nomination were confident they could "dump" Mr. Truman. Republican Party leaders, watching the Democrats come apart at the seams, were sure of an easy November victory. But neither counted on Mr. Truman's political bounce. This ability to snap back had served the President well before.

At the time of the Democratic debate at the November, 1946, polls, Mr. Truman's popularity had reached its lowest ebb.

In a few weeks time, a "new Truman" emerged from the wreckage and was at the highest peak of his popularity.

Two decisions, both of which required courage and presidential acumen, accounted for this tremendous change. The President challenged the power of John L. Lewis and fought his bituminous coal strike to a standstill in the federal courts. Scarcely had the ink dried on the newsprint announcing the President's victory over Lewis before Mr. Truman again electrified the country.

HE WENT before a joint session of the Congress and announced his "Stop Russia" policy, the famous "Truman Doctrine." Both actions put the country squarely behind him. His stock in the popularity polls jumped to an all-time high. This was "Truman bounce."

It paid off again at the Democratic convention.

The party appeared to be falling apart, throwing away fully any chance for a November victory. Then Truman emerged again.

Truman addressed the convention. In a fighting "off-the-cuff" speech, delivered with a vigor and appeal few believed possible, the President electrified the convention. He pulled the party together, and brought the delegates to their feet in roaring enthusiasm.

He tore into the record of the Republican-majority 80th Congress, and climaxed his acceptance speech by calling the congressmen back into special session to finish the job they had failed to do.

Truman snapped out of his Missouri drawl, and shouted: "The Republican platform cries about cruel high prices. I have been trying to get them to do something about high prices ever since they met the first time.

"Now listen!—this is equally bad, and as cynical. The Republican platform comes out for slum clearance and low-rental housing. I have been trying to get them to pass 'that' housing bill since they met the first time.

"THE REPUBLICAN platform is for extending and increasing social security benefits. Think of that! Increasing Social Security benefits, when they just took 750 thousand off the security rolls.

"I wonder if they think they can fool the people of the United States with such poppycock as that!

"I am therefore calling this Congress back into session July 26th."

Truman popularity, with his party at least, was ringing bells again.

New York Chief Makes Vast Changes

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 16—Future biographers undoubtedly will record Jan. 1, 1942, as the "great divide" in the political career of Thomas Edmund Dewey, Republican candidate for President of the United States.

The Dewey metamorphosis began when he took office as governor of New York state, a position from which 23 presidential campaigns have been launched since the founding of the nation.

On that date, Dewey laid aside the trappings of the racket buster and stepped into the role of chief executive of the nation's largest populated state. He no longer was "a young man in a hurry."

The young governor, obviously anxious to get off to a good start, sat stiffly behind his broad desk.

A score of reporters, who had heard tales of Dewey's difficulties with the press during his district attorney days in New York City, sat as stiffly in a semi-circle on the other side of the desk.

BOTH DEWEY and the reporters drew signs of relief when the harrowing experience ended.

Six months later the stiffness had vanished on both sides and the ice went out of the air.

Today, Dewey enjoys press relations in Albany on a par with those possessed by the genial Al Smith and the disarming Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Reporters still roam the nation, however, who spend most of their waking hours telling colleagues that Dewey and the press are mortal enemies. Some of these are professional "Dewey haters." Some have had few or no contacts with him since before 1942.

The Dewey who took office as governor six years ago was not immediately popular with Republican politicians, who ex-

They complained that the jobs, especially the big ones, were being distributed too slowly and that many Democrats were being allowed state salaries after their time was up.

They protested violently when their choices for jobs were investigated by state troopers.

They nearly swooned with anguish when Dewey kept as heads of the departments of correction, health and public service, men who had been appointed by Democratic governors.

Those Republicans are happy

WHEN DEWEY became governor he was an able, but stilted speaker. He was terrified at the thought of delivering an extemporaneous speech.

Today, Dewey has become a relaxed speaker, who delivered 102 speeches on his western tour, 82 of them in Oregon, without consulting a note.

Six years as chief executive of New York, together with one previous run for the White House, have changed Dewey from a stiffly correct, occasionally arrogant youthful prosecutor, into a relaxed, human

SCALING MT. BEHISTUN
A GOOD archaeologist will henceforth add a new accomplishment to his list. He already has to know history, the development of art, especially pottery, and geology. If he is to head an expedition, he should be a good buyer and know how to direct workmen. Now it appears that he will find it useful to be a steeple-jack also.

So Dr. George C. Cameron has found. He is a staff member of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, and has been appointed a professor at the University of Michigan. This university, along with the American Schools of Oriental Research, is sponsoring an expedition, to be headed by Dr. Cameron, which is now leaving the United States on a historic quest.

Darius I, king of Persia in the fifth century B. C. and one of the great monarchs of all time, is best remembered for one of his few defeats, the one in which a handful of Athenians turned back his hosts at Marathon and thereby preserved Greek independence. He left a record of his reign carved on the rocky walls of Mt. Behistun, 500 feet above the plain and 100 feet above a sheer vertical wall. This was in three languages, Old Persian, Elamitic and Babylonian. None was known, but a patient comparison of one with another led finally to the decipherment of all three—a great intellectual feat which opened a new volume of ancient history. Owing to its inaccessibility, the inscription has been copied only twice, and four columns out of the 14 have never been copied at all.

Special skyscraper scaffolding and mountain-climbing equipment will be employed by the Cameron expedition to get within copying distance of the unread portions. How Darius' slaves were able to make the original carving 2,500 years ago without modern apparatus is a mystery in the same class with the similar question: how, with the primitive methods of the day, was it possible to build the Pyramids?

ADVICE TO TEACHERS
A BASIC obligation of teachers is to give their charges a firm belief in democracy and a willingness to defend it. Members of the American Federation of Teachers, meeting recently in Glenwood Springs, Colo., were told that a good educational program must include teaching on world situations, such as the work of the United Nations and aims of the European Recovery Program. The speaker was Dr. Floyd W. Reeves, professor of education at Chicago University.

Teachers heeding such suggestions surely will bring to their pupils a broader conception of their opportunity, and much inspiration for their jobs. The future of the United States in a literal sense rests in the hands of the school teachers. Theirs is a high calling.

Truman, Dewey May Make Trips to the Pacific Coast | Warren May Make a Tour Of East During Campaign

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The adjournment of the special session of Congress has set the stage for the presidential campaigns ahead, with President Truman likely to journey to the Pacific coast within the next eight weeks.

GOP presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey is regarded as almost certain to go west before Mr. Truman in the presidential sweepstakes, with GOP vice presidential candidate Earl Warren probably coming east.

On the Democratic side of the picture, Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, Mr. Truman's running mate, is slated to concentrate on border states where Senate seats hang in the balance.

In fact, one of the considerations behind Barkley's vice presidential nomination was the help he can be counted on to give the Democratic party in its fight to re-win control of the Senate.

Mr. Truman is virtually certain to pitch his main campaign battle on the record of the 80th Congress, particularly its failure to carry out his anti-inflation program. However, both Dewey and Warren are expected to counter by blaming Mr. Truman for the still soaring cost of living.

Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party presidential candidate, will head westward with his own "peace and abundance" program.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

Justice William O. Douglas's opinions have been thrown together by the editors of "The Progressive" into an article entitled "The Conflict of Our Time." They say that they did it to "illustrate his thinking on some of the basic issues of our time."

It is a curious article, particularly in that part in which Justice Douglas speaks authoritatively of China. He says:

"The Nationalist government in China has lost ming-shing—the heart of the people. It is tainted by corrupt and reactionary elements. Its secret police patrol the universities and schools to discover dangerous influences—those who protest the serfdom in which the peoples are held and who press for liberal reforms."

Of course, Justice Douglas does not know this of his own knowledge or experience. He gets such information for the preponderance of evidence from those whom he is willing to accept as authorities. He ignores the fact, for example, that the Nationalist government came into existence in the year 1927, which is only 21 years ago. When that government was established at Nanking, China was divided into numerous feudal states, some of them large, some very tiny, all feuding against each other, fighting for power, for revenue, for control. The people had never in their thousands of years of history known representative government or what Justice Douglas carelessly calls Democracy.

At the same time that the Nationalist government was attempting to create a modern state out of deep-rooted feudal habits, the foreign powers were creating disturbances by direct interference in China's affairs. China had to regain control of the Customs from the British; to negotiate a treaty providing authority over her own tariff and currency. In fact, the Communist movement in China was able to operate out of Shanghai, which was under international control, and Hongkong, under British control.

Out of the 21 years of the existence of the National government, she was at war with Japan 14 years, on and off. There were years when Japan occupied most of the country that was arable and industrial. Chiang Kai-Shek moved his capital to Chungking and literally stood with his back to the Tibetan mountains. How much could he or any man do for the reconstruction of his country between 1927 and 1945, or since?

But all this was complicated by an American silver policy which threw China into a wild inflation, the printing presses pouring out billions of banknotes to deplete China's wealth and corrupt her people. Those banknotes were printed in the United States by American printers. They were flown to China in American planes. They were dumped into that country, having been given the highest priority, being flown over the Hump in preference to food, oil or war supplies.

I can go through this amazing article of Justice Douglas, paragraph by paragraph, to show how superficially he approaches great problems. Or maybe the editors of "The Progressive" threw this stuff together without the learned Justice's consent. But anyone who says: "The basic rivalry between the United States and Russia today is political—" does not understand the depth of the differences between Marxism and Western Civilization. Those differences are inherent in the philosophies that guide the two worlds. Justice Douglas might start with Plato and come up to date.

CHAPTER NINETEEN
LYNN nodded thoughtfully when aunt Kathie spoke of her concern for Lionel Claude's health. The change in her uncle had not escaped her notice, nor his curious alternation of moods. She suspected that he occasionally had recourse to drugs to stimulate himself, and she wondered whether he were not to a certain extent an addict. It would account for his extreme nervous irritability. She wondered how much Aunt Kathie knew or guessed. Aunt Kathie, thought Lynn, was not such a fool as she looked.

Going on down High St., Lynn caught a glimpse of her Uncle Jeremy letting himself into his front door. He looked, Lynn thought, very much older just in these last few weeks.

She quickened her pace. She wanted to get out of Warrmsley Vale, up onto the hills and open spaces. Setting out at a brisk pace she soon felt better. She would go for a good tramp of six or seven miles—and really think things out. Always, all her life, she had been a resolute clear-headed person. She had known what she wanted and what she didn't want. Never, until now, had she been content just to drift along.

Yes that was just what it was! Drifting along! An aimless formless method of living. Ever since she had come out of the Service. A wave of nostalgia swept over her for those war days. Days when duties were clearly defined, when life was planned and orderly—when the weight of individual decisions had been lifted from her. But even as she formulated the idea, she was horrified at herself. Was that really and truly what people were secretly feeling everywhere? Was that what, ultimately, war did to you? It was not the physical dangers—the mines at sea, the bombs from the air, the crisp ping of a rifle bullet as you drove over a desert track. No, it was the spiritual danger of learning how much easier life was if you ceased to think.

She, Lynn Marchmont, was no longer the clearheaded resolute intelligent girl who had joined up. Her intelligence had been specialized, directed in, well-defined channels. Now, mistress of herself and her life once more, she was appalled at the disinclination of her mind to seize and grapple with her own personal problems.

With a sudden wry smile, Lynn thought to herself: Odd if it's really that newspaper character "the housewife" who has come into her own through war conditions. The women who, hindered by innumerable "shall nots," were not helped by any definite "shalls." Women who had to plan and think and improvise, who had to use every inch of the ingenuity they had been given, and to develop an ingenuity that they didn't know they had got. They alone, thought Lynn now, could stand upright without a crutch, responsible for themselves and others. And she, Lynn Marchmont, well educated, clever, having done a job that needed brains and close application, was now rudderless, devoid of resolution,—yes, hateful word: drifting.

The people who had stayed at home, Rowley, for instance— But at once Lynn's mind dropped from vague generalities to the immediately personal. Herself and Rowley. That was the problem, the real problem—the only problem. Did she really want to marry Rowley?

Slowly the shadows lengthened to twilight and dusk. Lynn sat motionless, her chin cupped in her hands on the outskirts of a small copse on the hillside, looking down over the valley. She had lost count of time, but she knew that she was strangely reluctant to go home to the White House. Below her, away to the left, was Long Willows. Long Willows, her home if she married Rowley.

If it came back to that—if it—

A bird flew out of the wood with a startled cry like the cry of an angry child. A billow of smoke from a train went eddying up in the sky forming as it did so a giant question mark.

Shall I marry Rowley? Do I want to marry Rowley? Did I ever want to marry Rowley? Could I bear not to marry Rowley?

The train puffed away up the valley, the smoke quivered and dispersed. But the question mark did not fade from Lynn's mind.

She had loved Rowley before she went away. "But I've come home changed," she thought. "I'm not the same Lynn."

A line of poetry floated into her mind.

"Life and the world and mine own self are changed. . . ."

And Rowley? Rowley hadn't changed.

Yes, that was it. Rowley hadn't changed. Rowley was where she had left him four years ago.

Did she want to marry Rowley? If not, what did she want?

Twigs cracked in the copse behind her and a man's voice cursed as he pushed his way through.

She cried out, "David!"

"Lynn!" He looked amazed as he came crashing through the undergrowth. "What in the name of fortune are you doing here?"

He had been running and was slightly out of breath.

"I don't know. Just thinking—sitting and thinking." She laughed uncertainly. "I suppose—it's getting very late."

"Haven't you any idea of the time?"

She looked down vaguely at her wrist-watch.

"It's stopped again. I disorganize watches."

"More than watches!" David said. "It's the electricity in you. The vitality. The life."

He came up to her, and vaguely disturbed, she rose quickly to her feet.

"It's getting quite dark. I must hurry home. What time is it, David?"

"Quarter past nine. I must run like a hare. I simply must catch the 9:20 train to London."

"I didn't know you had come back here!"

"I had to get some things from Furrowbank. But I must catch this train. Rosaleen's alone in the flat—and she gets the jitters if she's alone at night in London."

"In a service flat?" Lynn's voice was scornful.

David said sharply: "Fear isn't logical. When you've suffered from blast—"

Lynn was suddenly ashamed—contrite. She said: "I'm sorry. I'd forgotten."

With sudden bitterness David cried out: "Yes, it's soon forgotten—all of it. Back to safety! Back to tame-ness! Back to where we were when the whole bloody show started! Creep into our rotten little holes and play safe again. You, too, Lynn—you're just the same as the rest of them!"

She cried: "I'm not. I'm not, David. I was just thinking—now—"

"Of me?"

His quickness startled her. His arm was round her, holding him to her. He kissed her with hot angry lips.

"Rowley Claude?" he said. "That oaf? By God, Lynn, you belong to me."

Then as suddenly as he had taken her, he released her, almost thrusting her away from him.

"I'll miss the train."

He ran headlong down the hillside.

"David . . ."

He turned his head, calling back: "I'll ring you when I get to London. . . ."

She watched him running through the gathering gloom, light and athletic and full of natural grace.

Then, shaken, her heart strangely stirred, her mind chaotic, she walked slowly homeward.

She hesitated a little before going on. She shrank from her mother's affectionate welcome, her questions—

Her mother who had borrowed five hundred pounds from people whom she despised.

"We've no right to despise Rosaleen and David," thought Lynn as she went very softly upstairs. "We're just the same. We'd do anything—anything for money."

She stood in her bedroom, looking curiously at her face in the mirror. It was, she thought, the face of a stranger. . . .

And then, sharply, anger shook her.

"If Rowley really loved me," she thought, "he'd have got that five hundred pounds for me somehow. He would—he would. He wouldn't let me be humiliated by having to take it from David—David. . . ."

David had said he would ring her when he got to London.

She went downstairs, walking in a dream. . . .

Dreams, she thought, could be very dangerous things. . . .

SCALING MT. BEHISTUN
A GOOD archaeologist will henceforth add a new accomplishment to his list. He already has to know history, the development of art, especially pottery, and geology. If he is to head an expedition, he should be a good buyer and know how to direct workmen. Now it appears that he will find it useful to be a steeple-jack also.

So Dr. George C. Cameron has found. He is a staff member of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, and has been appointed a professor at the University of Michigan. This university, along with the American Schools of Oriental Research, is sponsoring an expedition, to be headed by Dr. Cameron, which is now leaving the United States on a historic quest.

Darius I, king of Persia in the fifth century B. C. and one of the great monarchs of all time, is best remembered for one of his few defeats, the one in which a handful of Athenians turned back his hosts at Marathon and thereby preserved Greek independence. He left a record of his reign carved on the rocky walls of Mt. Behistun, 500 feet above the plain and 100 feet above a sheer vertical wall. This was in three languages, Old Persian, Elamitic and Babylonian. None was known, but a patient comparison of one with another led finally to the decipherment of all three—a great intellectual feat which opened a new volume of ancient history. Owing to its inaccessibility, the inscription has been copied only twice, and four columns out of the 14 have never been copied at all.

Special skyscraper scaffolding and mountain-climbing equipment will be employed by the Cameron expedition to get within copying distance of the unread portions. How Darius' slaves were able to make the original carving 2,500 years ago without modern apparatus is a mystery in the same class with the similar question: how, with the primitive methods of the day, was it possible to build the Pyramids?

ADVICE TO TEACHERS
A BASIC obligation of teachers is to give their charges a firm belief in democracy and a willingness to defend it. Members of the American Federation of Teachers, meeting recently in Glenwood Springs, Colo., were told that a good educational program must include teaching on world situations, such as the work of the United Nations and aims of the European Recovery Program. The speaker was Dr. Floyd W. Reeves, professor of education at Chicago University.

Teachers heeding such suggestions surely will bring to their pupils a broader conception of their opportunity, and much inspiration for their jobs. The future of the United States in a literal sense rests in the hands of the school teachers. There is a high calling.

Truman, Dewey May Make Trips to the Pacific Coast | Warren May Make a Tour Of East During Campaign

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The adjournment of the special session of Congress has set the stage for the presidential campaigns ahead, with President Truman likely to journey to the Pacific coast within the next eight weeks.

GOP presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey is regarded as almost certain to go west before Mr. Truman in the presidential sweepstakes, with GOP vice presidential candidate Earl Warren probably coming east.

On the Democratic side of the picture, Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, Mr. Truman's running mate, is slated to concentrate on border states where Senate seats hang in the balance.

In fact, one of the considerations behind Barkley's vice presidential nomination was the help he can be counted on to give the Democratic party in its fight to re-win control of the Senate.

Mr. Truman is virtually certain to pitch his main campaign battle on the record of the 80th Congress, particularly its failure to carry out his anti-inflation program. However, both Dewey and Warren are expected to counter by blaming Mr. Truman for the still soaring cost of living.

Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party presidential candidate, will head westward with his own "peace and abundance" program.

● "FLYING RUNWAY" MAKES BOW—The Air Force is now receiving a "flying runway" cargo plane which could have shortened the Pacific war had it been available.

The "flying runway" is the famed Fairchild Packet equipped with tractor-type landing gear. It can land and take off in any reasonably level area.

Perfection of the tractor or track-type gear will eliminate in any future war much of the laborious airfield construction heretofore necessary before volume "air lift" of supplies could begin to supply beachhead forces.

The idea of the track-type landing gear for airplanes was first tinkered with in 1920, but World War II had to be fought and won before its worth was appreciated and concrete action taken.

Now 18 of the "flying runway" planes have been put in operation and 23 more will be built.

One of the moving spirits in pushing the experiment was Gen. George C. Kenney, head of the Strategic Air Command. Kenney, as Gen. Douglas MacArthur's air chief in the Pacific, remembers countless crises when he could have moved up on Japanese islands much sooner had he had the "flying runway."

● JUDGES' BOX SCORE—The score sheet for the recently ended term of the Supreme Court shows that fiery Justice Felix Frankfurter most often rebelled against the majority's decisions. He wrote 18 of the 70 dissenting opinions issued during the term.

Justice Robert H. Jackson trailed Frankfurter with 13 dissents, and Justice Wiley Rutledge was third with 10.

Justice William O. Douglas did the most work on majority opinions, which are the weighty documents announcing the court's decisions. He wrote 22 of the 110 handed down.

Next in line were Justice Hugo L. Black with 18 and Justice Jackson with 17. Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, boss of the high court, was a poor fourth with 12 opinions.

All told, the court handed down a grand total of 223 majority, concurring, dissenting, separate and "per curiam" opinions during the term.

Parker Tops Davis Singles Aspirants

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 16—Frankie Parker of Los Angeles replaced Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Cal., today as the best bet of the United States in the Davis Cup singles.

This came about when Parker upset Schroeder in straight sets, 6-2, 9-7, 6-2 in the final of the men's singles in the Eastern Grass Court Tennis championships at the Orange Lawn Tennis club.

Billy Talbert of New York and Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., practically assured themselves of the Davis Cup doubles berth when they conquered the Australian combination of Bill Sidwell and Colin Long in the men's doubles final, 7-5, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Top-seeded Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Cal., became the new women's titlist when she defeated Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont, defending champion, 6-3, 8-6.

The British government took no official notice of the refugees' action, but the home office alien department cooperated at least to the extent of keeping open Sunday.

Home office spokesmen indicated the government would observe the British tradition of political asylum.

Iron Curtain Athletes Not To Go Home

LONDON, Aug. 16—Three Hungarian Olympic swimmers along with a number of other iron curtain athletes today had permission to remain in England.

One of the performers, 23-year-old Oskar Csuvi, said the group had decided to stay for political reasons. Official Hungarian sources charged the three wanted to earn livings as "professionals."

These sources, through the Hungarian News Agency, also seized upon the occasion to apologize for Olympic failures by blaming "hostile atmosphere and biased judges."

Ashville Wins Over Grove City

Reds Cling To Second Position

Ashville Reds baseball team retained its grasp on second place position in South Central Ohio League baseball league standings by trimming the Grove City Dodgers 9-1 in Community Park Sunday.

Although the Ashville win boosted the teams percentage for the season, it still trailed the league leading Chillicothe Meads by a conservative two games after the Meads edged out Washington 3-2 at Chillicothe.

The Ashville team staged three scoring sprees in its encounter, posting three runs in the first frame, adding another three in the sixth and clinching the game with a final three in the seventh. The Dodgers squad was allowed its single tally in the eighth inning.

Ashville Second Baseman Belcher was accredited with the only extra base hits of the fracas, a double to left centerfield and a triple to right centerfield.

Although Ashville committed six errors in the game while Grove City hobbled none, the Grove City squad failed to capitalize on its advantage until the eighth inning, when one of its three hits brought in the lone tally.

Ashville takes the road next Sunday to battle the Jamestown team, which holds the cellar position in league standings.

Following are the box score of Ashville's win, line scores on other SCO league Sunday games and the team standings:

Babe Blasts Opposition In National Golf

NORTHFIELD, N. J., Aug. 16.—Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Didrikson Zaharias held the national women's open golf title today with a 72-hole total of 300, eight strokes better than her nearest rival.

However, the Babe failed to pick up a $1,000 bonus for breaking 300 when she missed a five-foot putt.

Second to the Ferndale, N. J., pro was Betty Hicks, Detroit pro, with 308. Betty Jamieson, of San Antonio, Tex., defending champion, was third with 312.

Top amateur honors went to Grace Lenczyk, of Newtonington, Conn., who carded 313.

Single Game On Monday Slate

Only one Circleville Night Softball League tournament game has been carded at Ted Lewis Park for Monday night. The game will be the last of the first round winner's bracket games, and is the tilt between Millirons and Belmont AC of Columbus, postponed from last week. Gametime for the fracas is set at 8:15 p. m.

Tuesday's tourney schedule calls for the loser of the Millirons-Belmont encounter to meet Ohio School of Trades team for the first game of the loser's bracket at 7:15 p. m., followed by a game between the winner of the Monday night tilt and Boyers at 8:15 p. m.

Monroe Downs Walnut To Win County Alumni Softball Title

Monroe Township Alumni softball team annexed the Pickaway County Alumni Association tournament championship at Ted Lewis Park Sunday by defeating the Walnut Township grads 5-3 in the finals.

The Scioto Township team, which had figured high in the tournament championship race, was dropped to third place in final standings when it forfeited two games Sunday. The Scioto Township players could field only seven men by game-time.

Monroe copped its title in the final game by scoring five tallies on six safeties and seven Walnut errors, while holding the opposition down to three markers by allowing only five safe hits and committing three errors.

Most of the championship game was played in the infield, batsmen for both teams filling the infield with short fly balls. A total of 11 infield balls were popped by the Monroe squad, while Walnut popped five.

Monroe Pitcher Kenneth Reid turned in the most outstanding mound record for the day, whiffing 10 of the opposition while walking six and giving five hits.

Monroe Shortstop C. Reid turned in a perfect batting performance in the championship match, rapping out three safeties in three trips to the plate.

Bucky Pins Victory Hope On Vandermeer

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16.—Encouraged by the work of one veteran moundsman yesterday, Manager Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds pinned his pitching hopes on another today.

Kenny Raffensberger set the Chicago Cubs down with three hits in the second game of yesterday's double header, which the Reds won, 5 to 0.

Tonight, the veteran Johnny Vandermeer is tagged for duty in the series opener at Pittsburgh.

Any day now, the 38-year-old Walters may call his own number when he's passing out the mound assignments.

Raffensberger's classy victory, his fourth shutout of the season, snapped a five-game losing streak for the Reds. They lost yesterday's first game of a twin bill, 7 to 6, when Chicago scored twice in the ninth.

In winning his ninth game of the season, Raffensberger didn't walk a man although he hit one with a pitched ball. He fanned two.

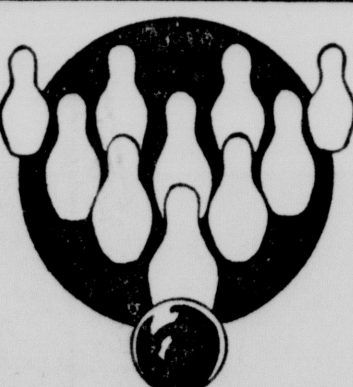

Harry Gumbert was the first game victim after relieving Howard Fox in the seventh. Fox had hurled four and a third scoreless frames in relief of Howard Wehmeier, the starter.

Bills To Give Browns First Test Sunday

BOWLING GREEN, O., Aug. 16.—The Cleveland Browns will get their first taste of competition Sunday at the Akron Rubber Bowl when they meet the Buffalo Bills in the first of two exhibition games at the bowl.

The Bills, who recently battled the New York Yankees to a 28-28 deadlock, are spearheaded by George Ratterman, forward passing ace, Bob Steubeck, who was with the Browns two years ago, and Jeff Dorkota.

Aside from the performance of Otto Graham and Ed Susteric, Coach Paul Brown was particularly pleased with the performance of Tommy James and Ara Parseghian in Saturday's annual intra-squad game. The contest went to the "Browns," which consists mostly of veterans of last year's squad. The score was 14-0.

Walnut Shortstop Black hit the longest ball of the game, a drive to centerfield good for three bases, and the only other extra base hit of the game was accredited to Walnut Rightfielder Sherman, who gained second base on a drive to centerfield.

Raffensberger Wins For Reds

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Ken Heintzelman of the Phillies and Ken Raffensberger of the Reds joined Harry Brecheen of the Cardinals and Fritz Ostermueler of the Pirates today as charter members of an exclusive club.

That might be called the National League's Old Man All-Star Southpaw club, because all four of these veteran lefties have been tough nuts to crack this season.

The two canny Kennys are younger than Brecheen, who is 33, and are mere rookies alongside of Grandpa Ostermueler, who admits 40, but they are no spring chickens either. Heintzelman is 32 and Raffensberger 31.

Heintzelman, who pitched two successive four-hit shutouts earlier in the season before he was stricken with pneumonia, turned in the best effort of his career yesterday. In the first game of a twin bill with the New York Giants, he allowed only one hit, a sliced, blooming blow to left field by Whitey Lockman in the seventh inning.

The Phils won the ball game in a romp, 8 to 1, and also took the nightcap, 7 to 5.

Raffensberger, who has pitched four shutouts this season and twice held the St. Louis Cardinals to one hit, limited the Chicago Cubs to three hits and blanked them, 5 to 0, in the second game of a double-header. In the opener the Reds had suffered their fifth straight defeat, 7 to 6.

Three hits by Gene Hermanski and Duke Snider's homer beat Boston's Johnny Sain, 4 to 2, and advanced the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers to within three games of the pace-setting Braves.

Ted Wilks, a relief pitcher since 1946, went the route for the Cardinals and beat Pittsburgh, 8 to 3, but the Cards muffed a chance to advance to second place when they lost the nightcap, 5 to 4.

Cleveland retained its 1-1/2 game lead in the American League by beating the Chicago White Sox, 6-2 and 8-0, with Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians making seven hits. In the opener Bob Feller turned in his first complete game in eight starts. In the second game, Bob Lemon held the Sox to seven hits.

Philadelphia's Athletics passed the Red Sox and took second place with two victories over the New York Yankees by the same score, 5 to 3. The A's captured the opener by scoring three runs in the tenth. Joe Dimaggio drove in all three New York runs with a homer and a triple.

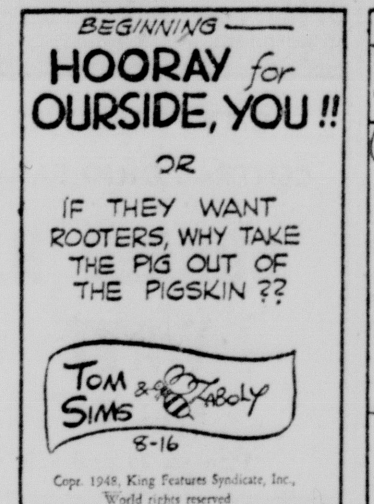

The Red Sox lost to Washington by one run, 4 to 3, and then trimmed the Nats by the same margin, 8 to 7.

Hits by Dick Wakefield, Hal Wagner and Eddie Mayo in the ninth gave Detroit two runs and a 3-to-1 victory in a single game with the St. Louis Browns.

Ashville Wins Over Grove City

Reds Cling To Second Position

Ashville Reds baseball team retained its grasp on second place position in South Central Ohio League baseball league standings by trimming the Grove City Dodgers 9-1 in Community Park Sunday.

Although the Ashville win boosted the teams percentage for the season, it still trailed the league leading Chillicothe Meads by a conservative two games after the Meads edged out Washington 3-2 at Chillicothe.

The Ashville team staged three scoring sprees in its encounter, posting three runs in the first frame, adding another three in the sixth and clinching the game with a final three in the seventh. The Dodgers squad was allowed its single tally in the eighth inning.

Ashville Second Baseman Belcher was accredited with the only extra base hits of the fracas, a double to left centerfield and a triple to right centerfield.

Although Ashville committed six errors in the game while Grove City hobbled none, the Grove City squad failed to capitalize on its advantage until the eighth inning, when one of its three hits brought in the lone tally.

Ashville takes the road next Sunday to battle the Jamestown team, which holds the cellar position in league standings.

Following are the box score of Ashville's win, line scores on other SCO league Sunday games and the team standings:

Monroe Downs Walnut To Win County Alumni Softball Title

Monroe Township Alumni softball team annexed the Pickaway County Alumni Association tourney championship at Ted Lewis Park Sunday by defeating the Walnut Township grads 5-3 in the finals.

The Scioto Township team, which had figured high in the tourney championship race, was dropped to third place in final standings when it forfeited two games Sunday. The Scioto Townshippers could field only seven men by game-time.

Monroe copped its title in the final game by scoring five tallies on six safeties and seven Walnut errors, while holding the opposition down to three markers by allowing only five safe hits and committing three errors.

Most of the championship game was played in the infield, batsmen for both teams filling the infield with short fly balls. A total of 11 infield balls were popped by the Monroe squad, while Walnut popped five.

Monroe Pitcher Kenneth Reid turned in the most outstanding mound record for the day, whiffing 10 of the opposition while walking six and giving five hits.

Monroe Shortstop C. Reid turned in a perfect batting performance in the championship match, rapping out three safeties in three trips to the plate.

Bucky Pins Victory Hope On Vandermeer

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16—Encouraged by the work of one veteran moundsman yesterday, Manager Bucky Pins of the Cincinnati Reds pinned his pitching hopes on another today.

Kenny Raffensberger set the Chicago Cubs down with three hits in the second game of yesterday's double header, which the Reds won, 5 to 0.

Tonight, the veteran Johnny Vandermeer is tagged for duty in the series opener at Pittsburgh.

Any day now, the 38-year-old Walters may call his own number when he's passing out the mound assignments.

Raffensberger's classy victory, his fourth shutout of the season, snapped a five-game losing streak for the Reds. They lost yesterday's first game of a twin bill, 7 to 6, when Chicago scored twice in the ninth.

In winning his ninth game of the season, Raffensberger didn't walk a man although he hit one with a pitched ball. He fanned two.

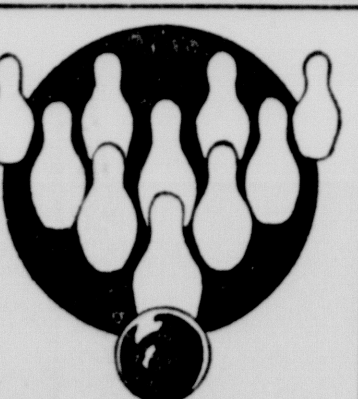

Harry Gumbert was the first game victim after relieving Howard Fox in the seventh. Fox had hurled four and a third scoreless frames in relief of Howard Wehmeier, the starter.

Bills To Give Browns First Test Sunday

BOWLING GREEN, O., Aug. 16—The Cleveland Browns will get their first taste of competition Sunday at the Akron Rubber Bowl when they meet the Buffalo Bills in the first of two exhibition games at the bowl.

The Bills, who recently battled the New York Yankees to a 28-28 deadlock, are spearheaded by George Ratterman, forward passing ace, Bob Steubeck, who was with the Browns two years ago, and Jeff Dorkota.

Aside from the performance of Otto Graham and Ed Stueck, Coach Paul Brown was particularly pleased with the performance of Tommy James and Ara Parseghian in Saturday's annual intra-squad game. The contest went to the "Browns," which consists mostly of veterans of last year's squad. The score was 14-0.

Raffensberger Wins For Reds

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—Ken Heintzelman of the Phillies and Ken Raffensberger of the Reds joined Harry Brecheen of the Cardinals and Fritz Ostermuller of the Pirates today as charter members of an exclusive club.

That might be called the National League's Old Man All-Star Southpaw club, because all four of these veteran lefties have been tough nuts to crack this season.

The two canny Kennys are younger than Brecheen, who is 33, and are mere rookies alongside of Grandpa Ostermuller, who admits 40, but they are no spring chickens either. Heintzelman is 32 and Raffensberger 31.

Heintzelman, who pitched two successive four-hit shutouts earlier in the season before he was stricken with pneumonia, turned in the best effort of his career yesterday. In the first game of a twin bill with the New York Giants, he allowed only one hit, a sliced, blooming blow to left field by Whitey Lockman in the seventh inning.

The Phils won the ball game in a romp, 8 to 1, and also took the nightcap, 7 to 5.

Raffensberger, who has pitched four shutouts this season and twice held the St. Louis Cardinals to one hit, limited the Chicago Cubs to three hits and blanked them, 5 to 0, in the second game of a double-header. In the opener the Reds had suffered their fifth straight defeat, 7 to 6.

Three hits by Gene Hermanski and Duke Snider's homer beat Boston's Johnny Sain, 4 to 2, and advanced the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers to within three games of the pace-setting Braves.

Ted Wilks, a relief pitcher since 1946, went the route for the Cardinals and beat Pittsburgh, 8 to 3, but the Cards muffed a chance to advance to second place when they lost the nightcap, 5 to 4.

Cleveland retained its 1-1/2 game lead in the American League by beating the Chicago White Sox, 6-2 and 8-0, with Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians making seven hits. In the opener Bob Feller turned in his first complete game in eight starts. In the second game, Bob Lemon held the Sox to seven hits.

Philadelphia's Athletics passed the Red Sox and took second place with two victories over the New York Yankees by the same score, 5 to 3. The A's captured the opener by scoring three runs in the tenth. Joe Dimaggio drove in all three New York runs with a homer and a triple.

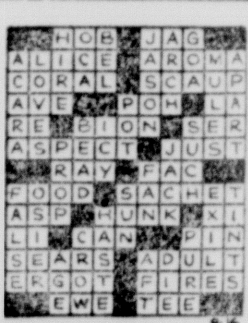

The Red Sox lost to Washington by one run, 4 to 3, and then trimmed the Nats by the same margin, 3 to 7.

Hits by Dick Wakefield, Hal Wagner and Eddie Mayo in the ninth gave Detroit two runs and a 3-to-1 victory in a single game with the St. Louis Browns.

County To Get Bigger Share Of Increasing Fuel Taxes

Pickaway County motorists this year will profit in more road and street improvements made available by an estimated increase of $26½ million in state gasoline tax revenue as compared with seven years ago.

The Petroleum Industry Committee of Ohio estimates that Ohio's highways will have nearly 61 percent more revenue available through the four-cent tax this year than the three-cent tax produced in 1941.

However, smooth sailing on Ohio's highways claimed a sizeable portion of the motorists' pocketbook. Records show $155,151,975.90 were paid in 1946 for all forms of motoring taxes.

Of the overall state total motorists paid in taxes, Pickaway Countians paid in $264,812.65 to be distributed among the subdivisions, the committee report stated. This, however, is not the county's total share of taxes.

While these figures show the high cost of motoring in taxes alone, it is apparent from the sharp increases in taxes, revenue and gasoline and parts usage that the 1948 tax total will be considerably higher.

THESE FIGURES were made public in a detailed report released by the committee covering the period of 1946-47 and with credible estimates for the current year.

An indication of the effectiveness of the liquid fuel tax which raised assessments from three to four cents per gallon of gasoline is revealed in the following figures.

In 1946, the first full year after gasoline rationing was removed, revenue from the three-cent tax was 32 percent above the 1945 figure.

Still again in 1947, revenue from the three-cent gasoline tax jumped 8.843 percent over 1946 and stood approximately 10 percent above the all-time high of 1941.

Petroleum experts say that figures based on gasoline consumption in the first-half of 1948, revenues will increase more than 45 percent compared to last year.

Principal reason for the sharp increase, they say, is due to an increase in gasoline usage and also to the repeal of the liquid fuel tax.

These increases in revenues will be reflected in higher distributions for the state highway department, counties, municipalities and townships.

COMMITTEE members pointed emphatically to the expanded highway facilities as well as the many improvements effected through the gasoline tax in the last seven years.

Here is why the improved conditions are possible:

In 1941, each one-cent per gallon of the gasoline tax produced $10,850,000. However, this year it is estimated the tax will produce $17,500,000—an increase of 61 percent or $6,650,000, they reported.

In 1946, the committee report shows, Pickaway County had a total of 9,303 registered motor cars. The county had only 20 miles of unimproved roads and 788 miles of improved highways.

For that period, the state controlled 185 miles of roads, the county 232 miles and townships 391 miles of highways, the committee disclosed.
